Homophones are two or more words, such as night and knight, that are pronounced the same but differ in meaning, origin and sometimes spelling. Homographs have the same spelling but are pronounced differently, such as bow (Schleife) and bow (sich verbeugen). It would be good if you could think up some examples that we can compare. We will try out some word games using such words or based on other creative ideas.
This program is free of cost.

The world of computers – Personal reminiscences from nearly 50 years of personal experience. Presentation and exhibition by Dr. Heinrich Becker

The world of computers and information technology is one of the most exciting and still dynamic fields of modern life and modern science. Dr. Heinrich Becker who took part in this era during the last 50 years will take you on a journey through the breath taking development of computers from the first valve based Konrad-Zuse-machines to the current high-performance computers, from punched cards to miniaturized chip cards. The presentation will be completed by a small exhibition of computers, components and pictures. Dr. Heinrich Becker is a former Senior IT Manager of Daimler. At the present time he is a consultant and coach in the field of IT. This program is in German.
Cost: 6.50€ / 3.50€ Abendkasse
